The 10th Anniversary of the Bhutan Society 1992-2002

Letter of Congratulation from HE Lyonpo Jigmi Y. Thinley
Minister for Foreign Affairs

Ministry of Foreign Affairs
Royal Government of Bhutan
Thimphu

9 September, 2002

Dear Friends,

It is indeed a pleasure for me to extend, on behalf of the Royal Government and on my own behalf, our warmest felicitations and Tashi Delek on the happy and auspicious occasion of the Tenth Anniversary of the Bhutan Society of the United Kingdom.

I would like to express my deep appreciation to the Society for the vital role it has played in promoting a better understanding of Bhutan in the UK during the past decade. It has been a key link in promoting goodwill and friendship between the peoples of the UK and Bhutan and has served to strengthen ties between our two countries. We in Bhutan greatly appreciate the valuable support and cooperation extended by the esteemed members of the Society to Bhutanese travellers and students in the UK, making their stay in the country a memorable one. The Royal Government has also greatly appreciated the courtesy and attention extended to His Royal Highness the Crown Prince during his stay in Oxford.

The Bhutan Society was one of the first Bhutan Friendship Associations to be established in Europe. Since then, it has inspired many friends of Bhutan in other countries to emulate the valuable work it has been doing. It is therefore most befitting that all the Bhutan Societies in Europe are participating in the Tenth Anniversary celebrations.

I should like to take this opportunity to commend the remarkable work being done by the Society for Bhutan. I am confident that the Society, under the wise and able leadership of Lord Wilson, will continue to contribute to further strengthening relations between the peoples of our two countries. I would also like to commend Mr. Michael Rutland, Vice-Chairman and Honorary Secretary of the Society, for his deep commitment and for the exemplary manner in which he has conducted the activities of the Society, thereby making it a highly effective one.

I would like to conclude by wishing the Bhutan Society Happy Anniversary celebrations and every success in its future endeavours.

Tashi Delek!

Yours sincerely,

Lyonpo Jigmi Y. Thinley,
Minister for Foreign Affairs
Congratulations to Bhutan Society Member Richard Whitecross who has been awarded his PhD in Bhutanese Law by the University of Edinburgh (School of Social Science and Political Studies, Department of Social Anthropology).

Richard is currently working on a paper on driglam namzha (Code of Conduct) with funding from the Carnegie Trust for the Universities of Scotland. He is also preparing a translation of the Supreme Laws of Bhutan.

See his article on page 4: Tha damtshi: the foundation of Bhutanese moral values.

The Convention of European Bhutan Societies

The Convention of European Bhutan Societies took place on Saturday 19th October at St. Paul's Walden Bury, the home of our Chairman, Simon Bowes Lyon.

The Convention was opened by HRH The Crown Prince of Bhutan, and we were delighted that both he and Ambassador HE Dasho Bap Kesang were able to attend. Our Chairman, Lord Wilson, presided. The 20 delegates represented nine European Bhutan Friendship Societies: Austria, France, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

Delegates discussed the similarities and differences between our Societies and our approaches to promoting knowledge and understanding of Bhutan in Europe. Ideas for further developing our links in the future were also explored. Dasho Bap Kesang briefed delegates on recent developments in Bhutan, followed by a discussion.

The next Convention will take place in 2004 at the kind invitation of the Austria-Bhutan Society Druk Yul.

The 10th Annual Dinner

HRH The Crown Prince of Bhutan presents a model of the Thimphu Memorial Chorten to mark the 10th Anniversary of the Bhutan Society. The gift was accepted by Lord Wilson on behalf of the Bhutan Society.

The 10th Annual Dinner of the Bhutan Society took place on Friday 18th October in the Great Hall of the Royal Hospital Chelsea, London.

This celebration of the Society's 10th Anniversary was a splendid occasion, attended by over 200 Members and their friends. Our President, Lord Wilson of Tillyorn, presided, and the Society was honoured by the presence of HRH The Crown Prince of Bhutan. We were also delighted to welcome as our special guests Ambassador HE Dasho Bap Kesang and his wife, and delegates from eight fellow European Bhutan Friendship Societies.

The Bhutan Society would particularly like to thank those members who generously sponsored a ticket for a Bhutanese student to attend the Dinner. This enabled 11 Bhutanese students currently studying in the UK to attend and was much appreciated.

A fine watercolour painting of Taktsang Lhakhang by Michael Blooman A.R.C.A. was auctioned during the evening, raising the excellent sum of £801. The money will be donated to the Bhutan Health Trust Fund, together with other sums raised by the Society (see The Sponsored Walk for Health, page 4).

Many thanks to Michael Blooman for generously donating the painting. Further watercolours of Bhutan by Michael are available for sale at his studio in Wickham Bishops, Essex. Tel.: (01621) 892166.
The Bhutan Society Tour

The official Bhutan Society Tour to Bhutan concluded on 16th November when the party of twenty members returned to London, having spent 14 days in Bhutan as delegates of the Society on its Tenth Anniversary.

On the evening of the party's arrival in Kathmandu en route to Bhutan, a Reception was hosted in their honour by Mr. Kesang Wangdi, Head of Bhutan's S A A R C Secretariat in Kathmandu. The party arrived in Paro on 30th October, and on 1st November they travelled to Thimphu, where they were formally welcomed by HE Lyonpo Jigm Y. Thinley, Minister for Foreign Affairs.

On the evening of 2nd November the Bhutan Society hosted a Tenth Anniversary Reception for members of the Government and other officials, and students who had studied in the UK. Among those attending were Lyonpo Khandu Wangchuk, Minister for Trade and Industry, Lyonpo Jigm Y. Thinley, Minister for Foreign Affairs, and Lyonpo Sonam Tobgye, Chief Justice of Bhutan. Michael Rutland welcomed the guests on behalf of Lord Wilson, President of the Bhutan Society. In his reply on behalf of the Government of Bhutan, The Minister for Foreign Affairs congratulated the Bhutan Society on its Tenth Anniversary and emphasised the important role that Bhutan Friendship Societies play in spreading knowledge and understanding of Bhutan in their respective countries.

The party travelled together via Wangduephodrang and Trongsa to the Bumthang Valley, and then split into two groups. The first group spent a night at Ugyen Choling, in the Tang Valley, and on their return via Trongsa visited Kuenga Rabten, the Winter Palace of the second King of Bhutan. The second group trekked from the Phobjika Valley to Wangduephodrang, on the Gangtey Trek. Both groups were fortunate to see around one hundred black-necked cranes in the Phobjika Valley. On their return to Thimphu members of the party were Official Guests at the Parade and Celebrations of the Birthday of His Majesty the King at Changlimithang.

The Bhutan Society party visited Bhutan on guest visas, and the Society would like to express its gratitude to the Royal Government and to the Foreign Ministry for this courtesy, extended to mark the Tenth Anniversary of the Society. Many thanks too to Himalayan Kingdoms, who organised the London-Kathmandu-London flights, and to Dorji Tours who organised the programme in Bhutan.

We hope to feature some individual accounts from tour members in the next newsletter, together with photos.

Subscription Fees 2003

After 10 years of the Society's annual subscription fee being held at £10, the time has now come to raise it to £15. A new 'household rate' of £20 for couples / families living at the same address (who are happy to receive a single copy of the Newsletter) is also being introduced.

Membership fees for 2003 are due in January 2003.

To ease administration the Society is keen for Members to pay subscriptions by Standing Order. A form is enclosed. Please do consider paying your 2003 subscription this way!

Subscriptions may, of course, still be paid by cheque (drawn on a U.K. bank only, please). Cheques should be made payable to The Bhutan Society of the UK and sent to:

Lucy Hornberger
Membership Secretary
Unit 23, 78 M arylebone High Street
London W1U 5A P

NB: Due to the increase in the subscription fee, Members who currently pay by Standing Order please fill in and submit a new Standing Order form. The new instruction will replace any previous one. Thank you.

Bhutan-inspired Silk Scarf benefits Health Trust Fund

A silk scarf inspired by the painted architecture of Bhutan is one of five designs in a new range of 'Art Scarves' designed by Lucy Hornberger, our Newsletter Editor.

The 'Himalaya' scarf features a norbu (jewel of enlightenment) surrounded by lotus flowers and foliage and framed by a trefoil-like design evocative of the distinctive windows of Bhutanese houses. The scarf is available in two authentic colourways (see the enclosed leaflet for details).

Lucy, who has a post graduate diploma in the Arts of Asia from SOAS, designs distinctive and unusual scarves in 100% silk through her company ASARAM. Her current range features designs inspired by the traditional arts and colours of Bhutan, India, China, Korea and Japan.

Bhutan Society Members are invited to purchase from this range. 10% of the purchase price of orders placed between now and January 31st using the enclosed order form will be donated to the Bhutan Health Trust Fund (see page 4).

A great way to combine Christmas shopping with supporting Bhutan's Health Services!

In this short article, I draw attention to a sadly overlooked, yet deeply important Bhutanese concept. When I first came across the term tha damtshi during a conversation with a Bhutanese friend, I was puzzled. Over time, however, I came to realise how central the notion of tha damtshi is to Bhutanese society. The term literally means the “highest or ultimate vow” and is based on the word for religious vows (damtshig) taken by Buddhists. In the recent publications on driglam namzha (Code of Conduct), notably the work of Dasho Khadro and the Royal Chamberlain, tha damtshi is discussed in some detail. However, few friends of Bhutan may have heard the term or understood its significance.

Although the term can be glossed as simply meaning “respect”, it can perhaps best be thought of as meaning “returning kindness”. Bhutanese phrases describe the relationship between parents and children as one based on tha damtshi, with the children respecting and honouring their parents and grandparents. Yet it would be too easy to simply assume this term is about hierarchy and submission. Rather, tha damtshi implies not simply respect to those senior to oneself or socially higher, but a reciprocal obligation from those so honoured. Nor indeed does it only apply upwards or downwards — husbands and wives each owe the other respect.

These values can be found in popular tales, notably for example the engaging tale of the Four Friends (Pun zhi), a popular image one sees all over Bhutan. In this tale derived from the Tittira Jataka, four friends, a bird, a rabbit, a monkey and an elephant, live below a banyan tree. There had been a decline in their respect for each other, and in order to decide which amongst them is the most senior, they begin to discuss the age of the tree. The elephant recalls that, when he was a baby, the tree was as small as a bush. The monkey recalls it was a mere shrub when he was young. The rabbit describes the tree as having been a leafless sapling. Finally, the bird comments that he had swallowed the seed, and that the tree had grown from his droppings. Thereby, the bird was honoured as the eldest, senior in rank to the rabbit, the monkey and the elephant. This restored harmony to the animal kingdom.

It is said that the Buddha used this story to decree that age would confer priority in the sangha (religious community). The image of the Four Friends can be found painted on buildings, in small wood carvings and on calendars. Occasionally, the image shows the Four Friends standing on each other’s backs, in order to pick the fruit of the banyan tree. Here the image refers to the equally important moral of mutual co-operation.

Respect is the basis for social harmony, and it reflects the value placed by the Bhutanese on creating and maintaining social order based on Buddhist ideas which have been distilled for everyday use. Recent criticisms of driglam namzha are essentially flawed by a failure to understand the moral values that the Code of Conduct seeks to embody. Driglam namzha is the external manifestation of tha damtshi, it implements the underlying moral values of Bhutanese society. Thus without an understanding of tha damtshi, the moral foundation, driglam namzha would be meaningless. This is why the transmission of the moral values of Bhutanese society remains important.

The Himalaya Scarf

100% silk
Hand-rolled, four-colour shoestring edges
Size: 34 x 34 inches (85 x 85 cm)

Inspired by the bands of auspicious emblems that decorate Bhutanese houses, the Himalaya Scarf features a flaming norbu - the sacred wish-fulfilling jewel - amid lotus flowers and foliage. The border is evocative of the trefoil windows of traditional Bhutanese architecture. The four natural paint pigments traditionally used in Bhutan are white, red-brown, orange-red and a very dark blue-black. Mixed, they produce a wide range of shades, reflected in our two colourways - Magenta and Ochre.
